

Directorate of Government Schools Reviews Short Review Report

Al-Sanabis Primary Boys School Al-Sanabis – Capital Governorate Kingdom of Bahrain

Date of Review: 9-11 November 2015 SG064-C3-R034

Introduction

The Directorate of Government Schools Reviews (DGS), which is a part of the National Authority for Qualifications and Quality Assurance of Education and Training (QQA), conducted this review over three days by a team of eight reviewers. During the review, reviewers observed lessons and other activities, scrutinised students' written works and analysed the school's performance data and other documents. They spoke to the staff, students and parents. This report summarises their findings and recommendations.

Percentile words used in relation to different judgements

□ School's overall effectiveness 'Satisfactory'

Judgement justifications

- Aspects relating to students' personal development, support and guidance, leadership and management, and capacity to improve have changed from 'Good' to 'Satisfactory'.
- The school's self-evaluation of work aspects is inconsistent, with erratic use of its results in setting development priorities and building up the strategic plan. This is particularly challenging in relation to the effectiveness of classroom practices, raising students' academic achievement and support provided to the different categories of students.
- The senior leadership's role in spreading the culture of change among teachers and encouraging them towards teamwork is obvious. There is effective communication with the local community, as well as with parents, particularly in informing them about their children's progress. This positively affects the school's dynamic work. Students and their parents are satisfied with the school's provision.
- Students' standards are good in some class-teaching lessons and in science in Cycle 2. However, their standards in the majority of Cycle 2 lessons, particularly in Arabic, are inconsistent.

- Teaching and learning practices in the majority of lessons are appropriate, with teaching methods being varied in considering differentiation and meeting students' different needs. There is an erratic use of time in some lessons, which affects their productivity.
- In general, students' expertise and self-confidence are adequately developed, as is enabling them to take on responsible roles in the majority of lessons, extra-curricular activities, and school events and programmes.

• Appropriate personal support is provided, particularly to those with special educational needs. However, the educational support provided to all categories of students varies.

Main positive features

- Positive relationships between the school's staff and their communication with the local community and parents.
- Harmony among students and their ability to work together, with appropriate communication skills.

Recommendations

- Implement a more accurate self-evaluation, utilising its results to develop the school's overall performance.
- Raise students' academic achievement and develop their basic skills in core subjects.
- Monitor the impact of professional development programmes on developing teaching and learning, to ensure:
  - productive and orderly classroom management
  - differentiation in classroom activities and assessment for learning to all categories of students
  - effective roles for students to develop their self-confidence.
- Provide the necessary support to all categories of students in and outside lessons.
- Address the shortage in human resources, represented in senior teachers for English, mathematics, science and ICT, and a social worker.

□ Capacity to improve 'Satisfactory'

Judgement justifications

- Though there is disparity in strategic planning, it has an adequate impact on the school's performance, particularly in setting development priorities in regard with academic achievement, supporting all categories of students, and monitoring the impact of professional development programmes on improving teaching and learning.
- The school's self-evaluation of its overall effectiveness and all aspects of schoolwork is inconsistent. The judgments given in the (SEF) are not in line with those reached by the review team members.

- The school adequately faces some challenges represented by:
  - effectiveness of teaching and learning
  - shortage in middle leadership represented in senior teachers for English, mathematics and science, and a second social worker. This impedes the school's ability to improve.
