Overall Judgement

In Progress

- The school has successfully addressed some recommendations from the last review. This has contributed to improving the effectiveness of teaching practices in the majority of science courses and Arabic lessons, enhancing students' positive behaviour, and providing adequate opportunities for them to participate in extracurricular activities.
- The school has set its goals according to development priorities and redrafted the school plans with a focus on improving students' academic standards and teachers' professional development. This has led to partial improvements in some aspects of schoolwork, with varied impact on improving teaching practices in some lessons and students' acquisition of core and specialised skills.
- The school should continue its efforts to raise students' standards in English language courses and specialised commercial courses, particularly those delivered in English, with emphasis on improving performance in lessons.
- The school should continue to address the review recommendations to achieve the desired improvement. The school will be scheduled for a regular review for the next visit.
