Overall Judgement

Insufficient Progress

- The school has made some attempts to address the previous recommendations, with minimal impact on its overall performance.
- While some external training sessions are provided for teachers, their impact on classroom practices is limited across the school.
- The school should focus its efforts on improving students' academic standards and progress, especially in mathematics and Arabic, in addition to improving teaching practices by ensuring the use of interactive strategies that promote students' engagement and self-confidence.
- It should also provide effective academic support to students within lessons and through its targeted programmes, while ensuring students' participation and commitment.
- The school needs to work on addressing the recommendations to achieve the desired improvement, noting that it will be scheduled for a regular review visit within the next cycle of reviews.
