Overall Judgement

In Progress

- The school has achieved partial improvements in its performance and addressed some recommendations provided during the latest review. This has contributed to improving students' achievement standards and their appropriate acquisition of basic skills in some lessons and written assignments across subjects, due to the effectiveness of teaching practices adopted, as reflected in mathematics courses.
- The school's management has focused on teachers' professional development programmes and designed development plans targeting areas for improvement for each teacher. This has led to partial improvements in the effectiveness of teaching and learning in the majority of lessons in core and specialised subjects.
- The school should continue its efforts to raise students' achievement standards in core and specialised subjects across lessons, written assignments, and school programmes, particularly in Arabic and English, and in the technical and vocational education department. Furthermore, it requires ongoing teachers' professional development programmes and further enhancement of the effectiveness of teaching practices in lessons.
- The school should continue to address the recommendations to achieve the desired level of improvement, and it will be scheduled for a regular review on the next visit.
