Overall Judgement In Progress

- The school made "partially sufficient improvements" to address all recommendations from the last review visit conducted in March 2025.
- The school updated its self-evaluation form and utilised its results in drafting school plans that focused on most schoolwork priorities, such as those related to developing students' skills in basic subjects and employing assessment to meet students' educational needs. This has contributed to enhancing some aspects of work, such as the improvement of teaching practices in Arabic and mathematics lessons.
- The school needs to continue its efforts to improve students' academic skills and improve the effectiveness of learning procedures and the academic support provided to students in lessons and the school programmes, through the provision of teachers' professional development programmes and effectively follow-up of their performance; especially in English and in some science and cycle 1 lessons.
- The school should continue to address the review recommendations to achieve the desired level of improvement, and it will be scheduled for a regular review on the next review visit.
